UPF Barcelona School of Management

A school with a global perspective
POMPEU FABRA UNIVERSITY

Excellence + Talent = Benchmark

Commitment and effort. Seriousness and ability. Pompeu Fabra University was founded based on the sum of these qualities.

An institution built on enthusiasm, change, hard work and clear-cut goals. Created to fill a gap, to meet a need. For a different, modern university. A new model. A benchmark. Here, in Europe and worldwide.

The university has been built around knowledge, which is divided into three highly specialised and interlinked areas:

> Social Sciences
> Health and Life Sciences
> Communication and Information Technology

All connected, all integrated into the professional and industrial fabric. Only in this way can we offer the kind of premium-quality teaching that Pompeu Fabra University is renowned for.

A fully student-centred model based on excellence. Designed to attract talent from everywhere, including the most internationally prominent researchers and lecturers as well as the most discerning students from all around the world.

Rated an International Excellence Campus since 2010 by the Ministry of Education.

A few words from the Rector

"If teaching models are not entirely updated and tailored to the needs of their time, students do not leave trained to lead, manage and administer today’s businesses, meaning the job market does not consider them to be ready.

As a result Pompeu Fabra University is committed to UPF Barcelona School of Management. The benchmark of a new model, a new way of understanding management, based on scientific rigour, which is also a moral imperative for those who are responsible for their own work and that of other people and organisations. An institution which, in addition to carefully watching global economic and financial changes, also generates knowledge to move forward, enhance and act on those changes.

Our mission is to turn UPF Barcelona School of Management into a business school capable of training the leaders of the economy of the 21st century.

Welcome to UPF Barcelona School of Management."

---

Dr. Jaume Casals Pons
Rector of Pompeu Fabra University and President of the UPF’s Institute of Continuing Education Private Foundation
Obtaining knowledge is one of the most complex and curious human processes. Basically it requires three stages: stimulus, perception and awareness.

The final outcome depends on the type of information we use to provide that stimulus, train that perception and come to that awareness.

When we use hypothetical data, we obtain subjective and uncertain knowledge. By contrast, when we use hard data, empirical evidence, analysed and proven information, the upshot is strictly objective and certain knowledge.

Here at UPF Barcelona School of Management we are 100% committed to the latter option. To a fully scientific approach to knowledge.

Only then it is possible to deliver training that is valuable, thorough and based on facts.

This is the method. What about the team?

This is the greatest strength of UPF Barcelona School of Management.

The teaching staff at Pompeu Fabra University are recognised for their scientific mindset, their outstanding rating in international rankings, their ongoing contribution to creating knowledge and their enormous ability to encourage and convey that knowledge.

A world that continues to turn, change and evolve, where everything is linked and connected, calls for professionals who are ready to adapt.

For this reason, our cross-cutting methodology includes crossover and linkage between disciplines. Because we believe that by sharing different perspectives we gain a greater, broader and truer vision.
One vision, one invitation

"At UPF Barcelona School of Management, we do not make subjective judgements. Instead, we systematically gather the facts and then meticulously evaluate them. Hence we do not simply believe but rather are absolutely convinced that future professionals need to grasp the paradigms of the new economic and social sciences. So they can tackle any challenge with the conviction that they have received first-class training.

Our goal is clear-cut. To train the management that 21st-century society will need. Because in a constantly changing world, where unexpected twists can transform everything, solutions are exclusively down to people. People who have the right knowledge, experience and ability in innovation to lead the future of the new economy.

If you share this vision, we look forward to seeing you at UPF Barcelona School of Management."

INTERNATIONAL PROFILE

The value of diversity

The more you expand your knowledge, the more you expand your possibilities, your opportunities, your world. Pure logic. It is precisely that logic which prevails at UPF Barcelona School of Management — opening doors to the outside world so that knowledge, talent and work can flow.

This is why: Pompeu Fabra University, a strongly international institution, has signed agreements with over 350 universities worldwide for partnerships and exchanges of teachers, researchers and students.

UPF Barcelona School of Management furthers this international dimension of UPF by offering dual degree programs in partnership with leading Latin American universities and designing and running customised training programs for international institutions and companies.

To foster the exchange of experiences and students.

So the whole world is their job market.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

83% of Masters of Science students are from 40 different countries.

70% of students on Health Economics and Pharmaeconomics programs from 47 different countries.
"The diversity of profiles at the university has given me valuable experience which I am convinced will be crucial in my future undertakings. I should also add that the cultural diversity in the classroom has really embodied what the program stands for. I am sure that the ties I have forged during my time here will last for years.

The hard work and precision that are so characteristic of UPF Barcelona School of Management have injected the "UPF style" into me and I couldn't be happier about it. They have far exceeded my expectations. Besides, who can complain about having the beautiful city of Barcelona as a backdrop?"

Manuel Aladin
(United States)
MSc in International Business, class of 2013

"I think it’s important for Pompeu Fabra University to have a delegation in Chile because the country has an enterprising market which is recognised as a business and distribution centre in Latin America. For Chile it is an opportunity and for the university a commitment. Latin America has much to teach and much to learn and that is where Pompeu Fabra University’s proposal really has a lot to offer."

BUSINESS ADVISORY COUNCILS

A close transatlantic relationship

We have a very special relationship with Argentina, where we have a Business Advisory Council since 2005, an organisation that brings together representatives of leading Argentinian companies and prominent Spanish firms operating in the country.

In March 2013 UPF’s Business Advisory Council in Colombia was set up. It consists of a group of 12 companies from various sectors which advise on current and future training needs in Colombia.

An excellent instrument that means we can:

{A} identify potential training needs exclusively geared towards the country.

{B} establish roots in the local business community.

Argentina’s Business Advisory Board:

- Arcor
- Banco Francés BBVA
- Bruchou, Fernandez Madero & Lombardi
- Deloitte LATCO
- Gas Natural BAN
- Grupo Clarín
- Novartis
- Pérez Alati, Grondona, Benites, Arntsen & Martínez de la Hoz (h), Abogados
- PricewaterhouseCoopers
- TECCS Consulting
- Telefónica

Colombia’s Business Advisory Board:

- Aqualogy
- Aviatur
- BBVA
- Brigard & Urrutia
- Caracol Radio
- Ediciones B
- Fundación Cardioinfantil
- Gas Natural
- Grupo Ethuus
- Novartis
- Pacific Rubiales
- Telefónica

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION NETWORKS

Present and future ties

In order to further enhance our international approach, UPF Barcelona School of Management is a member of the leading international education networks:

- AACSB Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business
- CLADEA Consejo Latinoamericano de Escuelas de Administración
- EFMD European Foundation for Management Development
- EUCEN European Universities Continuing Education Network
- MAEM-MEMA Network of Mediterranean Universities and other Academic Institutes
- PRME Principles for Responsible Management Education

STUDENTS

Fuel for progress

Talent will always be extremely valuable – the fuel of human progress. As a society we need to invest in it for the good of all.

At UPF Barcelona School of Management we always keep our eyes wide open to identify and nourish talent with solid knowledge. To support it we have set up a scholarship program to help train motivated and dedicated students eager to broaden their horizons with new ideas and experiences, who have outstanding qualities and proven academic, professional and personal talent.

We also have a grants plan for some of our programs.

Support for talent

"I love sport and I’ve always wanted to study it in an interdisciplinary way. I arranged to leave Peru and come here to study because of my interest and the chance to learn about breakthroughs in sports management. The Talent Scholarship has helped my decision in addition to the support I get from my family. I’m pleased and grateful because I feel the Scholarship is recognition for the years I’ve spent on this subject and it gives me the financial support I need to study and build my career. For me the Talent Scholarship is a partnership between an institution and its students to bring them closer to achieving their dreams."

Silvia Pérez Becerra
(Peru)
Master in Sports Management, class of 2013

In the 2013-14 academic year, 27 UPF Barcelona School of Management students have received a Talent Scholarship.
STUDENT SERVICES

Our school not only takes care of education, it takes care of everything.

CaMPUS Meeting points

The "where" is crucial. There are places that stimulate learning, where people want to gain knowledge, where the will finds the way.

We are there. These are our facilities.

Balmes Building

UPF Barcelona School of Management headquarters where all open training programs are run except the Masters of Science. Right in the city centre, in the Eixample district. Where enterprise management is most fired up, where business and pleasure live alongside each other like good neighbours.

Ciutadella Campus

Located less than 100 metres from the sea in Ciutadella Park, one of the city's green lungs. It is where all Social Sciences and Humanities training takes place and all Masters of Science programs are taught. An exceptional location. An international leader in research designed for thinking, exploring, sharing and moving forward.
UPF-IDeC
Generator of experts

In the Balmes Building we share facilities with UPF-IDeC, the Pompeu Fabra University postgraduate centre specialising in Social Sciences and Communication training.

UPF Barcelona School of Management and UPF-IDeC are part of the UPF's Institute of Continuing Education Private Foundation set up in 1993 by Pompeu Fabra University and a group of companies and business institutions.

They all have a shared commitment to talent as the driver of development.

UPF-IDeC delivers an extensive range of training options.

Taught through master programs and postgraduate courses, specialisation courses and seminars and in-company programs.

> Politics and Society
> Law
> Humanities and Cultural Management
> Health and Welfare
> Digital Creation

  > Communication and Audiovisuals
  > Communication, Branding and Advertising

Designed to cover the most enterprising areas in the international jobs market:

Wide-ranging and specialised programs carefully designed with a clear-cut purpose: to train skilled professionals who are masters of their future.

Together, UPF Barcelona School of Management and UPF-IDeC provide greater diversity. Of programs. Of profiles.

A combination that helps to further broaden our community’s horizons and provides a truly global perspective.

An insider’s view of the professional and business world.
Barcelona is a very special place, a spontaneous city open to whatever comes and whoever comes. It is a city where living well are not just two words, but a philosophy of life.

A capital that’s 100% Mediterranean, Barcelona is privileged, with its long beaches and mild climate.

It is a place where culture, art and wisdom collide, on every street and every corner. Where what’s old does not crumble but is protected, pampered, and where the most Roman, medieval and art nouveau rub shoulders with the most modern and avant-garde.

Looking to the north, south, east and west, it is a city that thrives on what’s new and what’s next.

Barcelona is an ideal meeting place, where doing business is a tradition, a pleasure. It is a magnet drawing talent, a source of inspiration, thought and ideas.

It is here, in this particular city, that UPF-IDEC is located.
